WORK

Product Designer

2017 - Current

Venn Digital - Alderley Park

At Venn Digital I currently hold a dual role that involves designing and building. My primary duty is to research and design effective websites for a range of clients. The role includes but not limited to:

- User Research
- Wireframing
- Visual/UI Design
- Prototyping

As well as researching and designing, I also develop and build the front end of most projects. The process usually involves HTML and CSS (using SaSS) and also light JS and JQuery work.

2014 - 2017

Prodo Digital - Chester

I started at Prodo as a 'Digital Apprentice' learning all aspects of working in an agency, from Design and development to Account Management. After I successfully passed my apprenticeship and also achieving 'apprentice of the year', I was given a full-time role.

I worked with the design team to assist and create high fidelity designs manily for the housing market. I also started to work with the production team to learn user testing and ensure the designs worked and performed well.

PERSONAL STATEMENT

I've always had a pasion for both design and technology. Since my early days at high school I was creating websites and graphics. Since then I have worked on my skills and have earned multiple design qualifications further improving my capabilities as a designer. I have also become intrested in not only how designs work but how they perform. I always look to expand my skill set and look for new training opportunities where I can.
